CHAPELTOWN CHRISTMAS LIGHTS SWITCH ON

Festive fun began on Tuesday 5th December surprise celebrities switched on the Christmas lights down at The Yes Cyber Cafe on Chapeltown Road. Leeds City Councillors were amongst the many guests as well as live music by Hillcrest School, other entertainment was also planned along with free food and light refreshments. The catering was done by Terry's Takeaway which was a good selection of tasty food. Everyone was welcome and the fun began at 6.00pm. The evening was organised with local councillors' Thomas Danby College, Chapeltown Young People's Club, Unity Housing Association and Champ. On the whole, the event went down well and we had a good turn out. To all the organisers and helpers, "Well done because the event was a success".

Black & Asian "Wings" Award 2000

Sports

Levi Gatewood

Nominated in recognition of his running the Fitness gym at the Chapeltown Community Centre.

Jevon & Jaleesa Smithen

Nominated by: Ianthe Smithen (Mother)

Jevon not only excels in his school work, he loves football and has received trophies for his football skills.

I would like to nominate Jaleesa for her academic achievement and excellent behaviour. Jaleesa also achieved the Dolphin 5 Swimming Certificate in one day.

Sarah Hack

Nominated for her all round abilities and activities in sports. Sarah continues to excel in her swimming.

Luther Dore

Luther not only excels in his class work but also in athletics and he represented Leeds in the Under 11's team in Germany.

Terri Nelson

Terri competes regionally and nationally in athletics and combines athletics with the highest level of academic achievement.

Michael Stanley

Nominated by: Felina Hughes

Michael has been an active team player in all areas of sport and plays regularly for the school in the rugby, cricket and badminton teams. Michael also plays cricket for the Caribbean Cricket Club and has received several accolades including 'Young Player of the Year'.

School

Esther Mtonga

Nominated by: Mrs Robson - Carr Manor Primary

Esther is a conscientious pupil who has a very good attendance record. She sets an example to other pupils in the way she settles to the task working in a focus way. Esther produces some good quality interesting creative and non-fictional pieces of work.

Her confidence has grown and she enjoys reading her work aloud to her classmates.

Luther Dore

Nominated by: Mrs Bowles Headteacher - Carr Manor Primary

Luther has a great all round attitude to doing his best at all times. He works hard, is pleasant, polite and a good role model for the younger children.

Khusbo Rahman

Nominated by: Mrs Moyle Headteacher - Hillcrest Primary

Khusbo worked so hard in her last year at school work that she made tremendous progress. She is a real trier and has a very good attitude to learning and school work. She showed real qualities even at a young age of perseverance, drive and a willingness to try even when she found some things difficult. Khusbo has great tenacity and strength of character.

Nadia Saghir ,
Nominated by: Mrs Moyles Headteacher - Hillcrest Primary

Nadia is a wonderful child who is kind and friendly to everyone - children and adults. She is a pleasure to have in school. She is consistently well mannered, concerned for others and helpful around school.
Nadia also puts 120% into her school work and gives her best in everything she does.

Kirendeeep Sidhu
Nominated by: Clive Owen - Bracken Edge Primary

Kirendeeep's attendance and punctuality is excellent and she is never discouraged or daunted by any activity. She is always compliant when asked to redraft or improve a piece of work.
On the whole Kirendeeep is an ideal role model for her peers.

Shanice Lewis
Nominated by: Mohinder Bhogal - Bracken Edge Primary

Shanice is a bright sensible, hardworking and well mannered pupil. She enjoys coming to school, always eager to learn new things and is always willing to help other children with their Maths and English.

Ayesha Imran
Nominated by: Miss Bainbridge - Bracken Edge Primary

Ayesha is a very enthusiastic child. She always contribute to discussions and is quietly confident and executes a task straightaway. She loves school and goes to the Mosque to do more studies after school

Marisha Payne
Nominated by: Suzette Price - Little London Primary

Marisha is an outstanding pupil in both academic achievement and her attitude to school. She listens carefully and completes her work with a real enthusiasm and joy for learning.

Jaleesa Smithen
Nominated by: Muma Hack - Little London Primary School

Jaleesa has all the qualities of a beautiful, young black child constantly learning and achieving in all areas of the curriculum- especially her social skills.

She is always kind, caring and very compassionate helping and supporting other children. She has a great awareness of her surroundings especially racism and bullying and knows that it is unkind. I am proud to know this young child and pray she continues to succeed.

Dominic York
Nominated by: Jennie Herron - Little London Primary

Dominic came to our school just over a year ago, very shy and worried about writing down anything in case it was wrong.
He has gained self-confidence in his ability, discovered a flair for acting and dance and has written some really good stories. I feel an award to recognise his achievement would help to raise his self-esteem. He really deserves it.

Sarah Hack
Nominated by: Irene Hinchliff - Little London Primary

Sarah is an excellent pupil with a wide range of abilities and skills. She reads and writes to a high standard and is a responsive and a good role model.

Elisheba John
Nominated by: Carmen Ingham - Little London Primary

Elisheba is very enthusiastic about writing and writes with lots of imagination. Her written work is always lively and interesting and Elisheba has shown lots of progress over the past year.
Elisheba has tried hard to improve her literacy skills and spend lots of time reading and writing and would love to become an author when she is older.

Academic

Natuley Smalle
Nominated by: Yvette Smalle (Mother)

Natuley gained 4 A Levels at very good grades - 3 A's and 1 B.
Natuley is now at Warwick University which is one of the top Universities in the Country.

Also nominated by: Jenny (Friend)
Natuley did exceedingly well in her A Levels - 3 A's & 1 B.
Natuley is also a lovely person and possess all the qualities a good friend should have. The girl's just perfect.

Carol Stapleton
Nominated by: Yvette Smalle - Leeds Metropolitan University

Carol obtained her B.A. (Hons) in Community & Youth Studies.
She has had to struggle with her own health and that of her husband and her children and kept going against all odds.
An award she well deserves.

Terri Nelson
Nominated by: Robin Hainsworth - Thomas Danby College

Terri has excelled academically with a Year 1 straight Distinction profile. Terri is unassuming, modest and very likeable. A definite role model.

Business

Lillian Lynch

Nominated by: Member of the Community

Mrs Lynch has served the Chapeltown and Harehills areas for over 25 years with her Hair Dressing business. She has clients from all over the Country some as far as Scotland. Mrs Lynch is a very pleasant, honest and courteous person and is well liked in the Community.

Patricia Jones

Nominated by: CHAMP (Chapeltown & Harehills Motor Project)

I am confident and passionate about nominating Patricia for an award because I know Patricia is capable, ambitious, industrious and above all an assertive entrepreneur.

Patricia has single-handedly set up the Community Highlights in 1995 which is a significant achievement in Chapeltown and it is still going strong.

In my opinion the Lady is a winner in Chapeltown.

Special Awards

Errol Malcolm

Nominated by: Milton House

This young man has made great progress in achieving life skills and personal development. Errol continues to reside at Milton House and with the help and support from the staff is now achieving things which two years ago he thought was beyond his reach.

Yvette Smalle

Nominated by: The Mary Seacole Halfway House

Over the years, Yvette has given much of herself to fight causes and issues for the Chapeltown community.

Yvette worked at the Palace Youth Project for a number of years and was a founder member of the Black Governors in Leeds also a founder member of the Mary Seacole Halfway House.

Yvette campaigned vigorously on issues around social justice for young people. Along with others, she set up the Anti-hard drugs campaign.

Recently, Yvette instigated a conference to share concerns about the fragmentation of the black communities.

Yvette is presently a Senior Lecturer in Youth Work at Leeds Metropolitan University. This award is to recognise her contribution to the community and often working beyond the call of duty.

Building successful communities

The Ridings Housing Association

Empowerment of tenants from black minority ethnic groups in Leeds. The Ridings Housing Association supported a major event with BME TARAN which was held in the West Indian Centre in Chapeltown and organised by the Afrikan People's Forum for action (APFFA). The event showed the effort and determination of the black community in Chapeltown in addressing the fact that sustainable communities require a multi agency approach. It is hoped that the event will go towards establishing a community consultation panel in Leeds which will be the basis for an effective communications process led by individuals and representatives from the community sector. Bill Brown, Chairman of BME TARAN, an organisation providing an advisory network for black and ethnic minorities, tenants and residence associations based in the Midlands said: "The event is an example of good practice, seeing black led community organisations and a local landlord working together. I want to praise the Ridings for the role they have played in supporting the event and for their commitment to involving black communities. The Ridings have truly embraced the value of diversity in their communities and it is an indicator of their proactive approach, they are one of the few housing associations in the country I am aware of who can point to a black convenor on their Residents Federation. I hope the Ridings will be able to sustain this level of involvement.

Home Office Minister Praises Community Project

Charles Clarke MP, Minister of State at the Home Office, praised the work of an inner city Leeds anti crime project when he visited the City on Wednesday 22nd November.

Mr Clarke who has special responsibility for crime reduction, criminal policy and action against drugs addressed the first AGM of community action and support against crime (CASAC) at the Leeds West Indian Centre in Chapeltown. He spoke on the role of community safety partnerships in the UK's inner cities. Mr Clarke says "The future of the local community safety groups is very much a proactive one, as they often come up with innovative new approaches to tackle crime and disorder. The Government encourages crime and disorder-partnerships to work with local community groups in implimenting specific crime reduction measures". 2 "CASAC has demonstrated this by running innovative workshops on domestic violence, coordinating community safety projects and working with young people to reduce crime. It is only by finding effective local solutions which local people believe in, that we can make a real impact. Travis Johnson OBE, Chair of CASAC added; "We are pleased to have Home Office Minister, Charles Clarke as our guest speaker. His presence highlights the importance of community safety issues and is a clear acknowledgement of CASAC's achievements in this field".

SURE START THE 4TH WAVE, CHAPELTOWN

Sure Start is a corner stone of the Government's strive to tackle child poverty and social exclusion. The Sure Start programme aims to improve the health and well-being of families and children before and from birth, so children are ready to flourish when they go to school. Sure Start's initiatives will be concentrated in neighbourhoods where a high proportion of children are living in poverty and where a programme can help them to succeed by pioneering new ways of working to improve services. The Sure Start working group in Chapeltown is preparing itself for the 4th wave of bids, which is expected to happen early in 2001. The working group is made up of both statutory and voluntary groups working in Chapeltown and is committed to making local communities, parents and carers central to the development of the next funding proposal for Sure Start money.

To make a real difference to the lives of very young children and their families, Sure Start partnerships will need to have a wide representation from the community, voluntary and statutory sectors. In order for as many people and partners as possible to be given information about the next wave of Sure Start, a "Community Lunch" is being organised so that groups and individuals can find out more. If you want to find out more, contact Elaine Kerr or Ursula Freissner Day at Chapeltown Health Centre (2951932) or keep watching this space!

YOUTH HIGHLIGHTS

Over 100 young people from estates across Leeds got together on Friday 10th November at the West Yorkshire Playhouse to showcase their talents and skills. From 11.00am to 3.00pm, there was live music, dance and theatre as well as video performances, interactive workshops and an abseil down the outside of the Playhouse. – Community groups involved included RJC Dance, Kirkstall Valley Nature Reserve, Seacroft United Motor Project and the Hunslet Club for boys and girls. They are some of the 31 community organisations funded by the Neighbourhood Support Fund to work with young people, aged between 13 19 years also exhibited work that was going on. The Millennium Volunteer Awards were presented at 11.30am to young people who had given up their time to volunteer in their communities up to 200 hours. Leeds United players had been invited as well as members of a wellknown TV soap. The two initiatives are part of a governments' social inclusion policy, one aim of which is to involve young people in their local communities.

LEEDS ARCHWAY CENTRE,

WHICH PROVIDES HOMES AND PRACTICAL SUPPORT FOR YOUNG PEOPLE, OFFICIALLY OPENED ON DECEMBER 1

The purpose built archway resource centre in Harehills, Leeds which helps young people in the inner city who have little, or no, support to find a home and live independently was officially opened on Friday December 1st.

Councillor, Alec Hudson, Deputy Leader of Leeds City Council and Chairman of the projects Board of Directors, performed the opening ceremony. Archway is run by Leeds Partnership Charitable Homes, a non profitmaking housing organisation, which has developed more than 4000 homes in the City during the past 10 years. Through the work of the partnership, over 10,000 people have been provided with good quality modern homes. Built at a cost of 1m. on the site of the former Gaiety Cinema, – the resource centre assists young people, including single parents, aged between 16 and 25, who are living or want to live in Chapeltown, Harehills, Lincoln Green, Little London or Woodhouse areas of Leeds.

The Centre's first priority is to help young people who are homeless or at risk of becoming homeless. They may be staying in a hostel or receiving support through Archway's Housing Support Scheme, which helps young people to obtain the tenancy of a Housing Association property and gives them practical support in living independently. All the services of the centre are free of charge to eligible young people, who can apply for membership simply by going to the centre or can be referred by another agency. Archway also provides excellent training and advisory services, including a cyber suite equipped with multimedia computers, all with internet access. Members also have exclusive use of a laundry room. Other activities include groups looking at living skills, health and supporting parents. A creche is also available. Staff from Leeds Citizens Advice Bureau visit twice a week and the centre is a community legal service information point for young people. Workers from other agencies also visit Archway to help with specialist areas including employment and training, health and drug related issues. Richard Norton, Director of the project, heads a team of 22 staff, all of whom have specific skills in working with young people. He comments: 'we provide a friendly focal point for the co ordinated delivery of support services to young people. Many of our users need help in finding somewhere to live but they need much more than bricks and mortar. They want to be independent but often require advice and practical support in achieving that.' They also need to be encouraged to use our services and equipment to enable them to gain practical skills and increase their confidence, which in turn will help them to find a job. Our work is beginning to attract attention from other Housing Organisations and support agencies, who recognise the fresh approach we are taking. For further information , please contact Richard Norton, Tel: 0113 3833910 or Ron Miller, Citigate Dewe Rogerson, Tel: 0113 22979899.

FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Commedia Millennium Awards

A groundbreaking new media initiative, the Commedia Millennium Awards, is to be funded by the Millennium Commission with a total lottery grant of £970,000. 225 of these awards of between £1,000 and £5,000 are available to individuals to communicate an issue or idea through radio, TV, the internet or via audio CD. This offers individuals the opportunity of addressing an issue of concern or interest which is of benefit to the community as well as gaining media training and publicising their work or cause. Each award winner will work with a local community media organisation to realise their idea. The local partner will support the individual with a custom made package which includes training, mentoring, production support, equipment hire, assistance in broadcasting and distributing the final production. Productions will be broadcast by local partners on community radio and television, and will also be available over the Internet.

A pilot round of Commedia Awards was launched in Yorkshire and Humberside before going nationwide with the first round (of 6) launching in November 2000 with a closing date at the end of January 2001.

Chandelle goes to 10 Downing Street

On Monday 20th November 2000 a group of young people from Chapeltown Community Centre, Senior Youth Club attended the official launch of the National Black Youth Forum (NBYF) in London - Chandele Morris, Leanne Daniel's and Natasha Mills). The event marked the inaugural meeting of NBYF representing all Black and minority ethnic young people from across the country, representing the spectrum of multi-cultural Britain. The report reflects many of the issues facing black young people in Britain, today. The group met at Trafalgar Square, then after a group photo, walked down to Downing Street. In support of the young people was Vas Blackwood better known as a comedy actor in the 'Lenny Henry Show', the 'Real McCoy' and 'Desmonds' and two of Britain's newest and brightest black members of parliament Oona King (Bethnal Green and Bow) and David Lammy (Tottenham).

A delegation of young people went to number 10 Downing Street to hand in a copy of the NBYF Black Youth Charter to the Prime Minister, with Chandelle representing the Yorkshire and the Chapeltown massives. Unfortunately the Prime Minister Tony Blair had another pressing engagements, so a representative accepted the report on his behalf.

The event received national attention, with press and radio reporters interviewing the young people. The Black MP's were impressed by the content of the report and the turn out of over 70 young people from across the country. Not even the inclement weather or the delay on the trains could dampen the young people's enthusiasm.

The event came to a close with the group enjoying a meal in Brixton together and getting to know one another. It also gave the opportunity for the core group to feed back information on NBYF activity. The NBYF will be on line from 23rd November 2000 at WWW.nbyf.com. On the web page with notice boards, articles, photos, updates on events, news and views about what's happening around the country. The group was also invited to informed that NBYF has become advisor to the government on issues such Connexions, they have also Strasbourg to speak to European Ministers on issues affecting black young people and there is more in the pipeline.

The Youth Services represented at the launch were Leeds, Cardiff, Blackburn, Manchester Stockport, Merseyside, St. Helens, Bedfordshire, Hertfordshire and London Boroughs. The turnout represents a fine example of Youth Services from across the country commitment towards race equality issues in support of young people.

The Spice of Leeds

.....one step ahead

The 2001 annual Spice of Leeds festival will be the first festival in Leeds of its kind and marks for Chapeltown and Harehills its place as a unique centre for cultural unity. The Spring Bank Holiday at the end of May is the time to lime, check it on the calendar right now! ; at this point there will be a big launch event, some medium size events and many smaller ones involving the whole community and artists of every kind. Over the course of a week you will feel the kind of vibes never felt before. This Festival will be the people's celebration, and it is important that anyone can be a star.

There will be national acts, international acts, and most importantly, hard exposure for up-and-coming local musicians, D.J.s, artists and performers. The festival will include music reflecting the cultural diversity in the area and there will be something for everyone. The vibrations at the main event will pump the energy level of the people to a level that puts Chapeltown and Harehills on the map. And it with positive news

doesn't stop there, there will be fresh, hot and tasty food all round....fun for the kids, radio and news coverage, firework displays and lots, lots more.

Across the week, other events in the Chapeltown and Harehills districts will include multi-ethnic dance and theatre events, celebrations of film, photography, art, poetry, literature and even hairdressing! These will again include local, national and international stars.

The idea is to bring people outside of Chapeltown and Harehills into the area, to provide a cultural unity and encourage regeneration of the area. The Spice of Leeds is also compiling a database of local artists of every description to potentially provide work and real earnings for the people.

If you're a local D.J., musician, dancer, artist, cook, poet or whatever, and you feel you can contribute to, or benefit from the Festival, or would like to be included in the database, come forward to get the chance to participate. Just one call can do it all...

BLACK GOVERNORS INFORMATION NETWORK

BGIN Recruiting Governors

The Black Governors Information Network (BGIN) has been operating in the community for 10 years.

We aim to inform, support and encourage black governors and parents through regular monthly meetings, training and information sessions.

We provide a space to discuss issues relating to exclusion, Human Rights Act, Healthy Schools Standards, JVC, parental involvement, and raising pupil achievements.

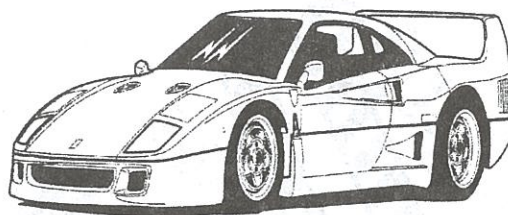

We need more African, Caribbean and Asian governors on to Schools Governing Bodies throughout Leeds.

We are currently holding Mentor training for new and experienced governors and provide an on-going training programme.

What we ask from you is commitment.

Take the challenge. Make a Real Difference.

Contact Patricia Farrell on 0113 2145374.

LEEDS CONSTRUCTION & TRAINING AGENCY

Wishing you Seasonal Greetings

Passport To Training

- Are you interested in the construction industry?
- Are you resident in Chapeltown, Burley, Harehills, Hyde Park or Beeston?
- Would you like to do some training in construction that may help you get a job?

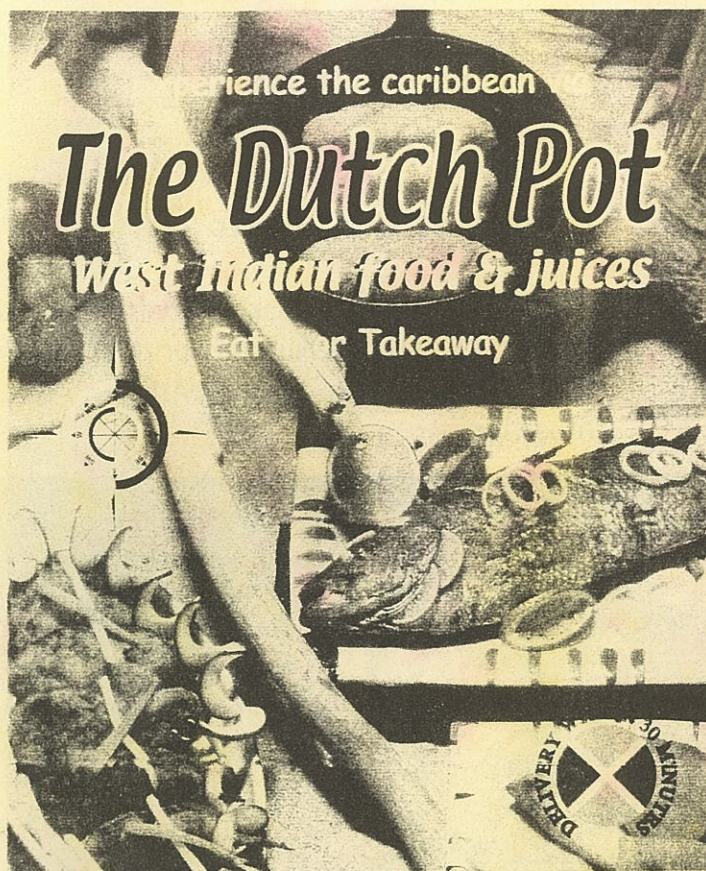

We may be able to help by:

- Paying for you to go on training: e.g. joinery, bricklaying, plastering, painting & decorating, welding, plumbing, electrical installation;
- Looking out for possible job opportunities;
- Giving you advice about the construction industry.

THERE'S NO CATCH - our services are FREE
